

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0080]The present invention discloses a method and apparatus for driving a liquid crystal display device that improves a picture quality. More specifically, in the method and apparatus, reference modulated data selected in accordance with a detected driving frequency are adjusted to modulate source data.